

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An LED driving circuit includes a current limiting resistor (24), an FET (22), and a feedback circuit (23). The FET has a drain electrode connected to the current limiting resistor to provide current to a load such as an LED (25), and the feedback circuit has a variable reference voltage source (234) for controlling a current of the drain electrode of the FET.